These workshops will help you save energy, money

Beginning in June and running through the fall, we've scheduled valuable monthly energy efficiency training workshops to help business owners like you learn how to save energy — and money — by installing the latest energy-efficient technologies in their facilities.

These workshops also will review the features, benefits and cash incentives available through DTE's Energy Efficiency Program for Business.

On hand will be Program staff members who will walk attendees through the Application process, answer questions and offer suggestions on the kinds of technologies best suited to specific types of businesses.
